WHAT A SHARK IS LIKE.

A word or two upon the organization and natural history of this finny omnivore. We wish that you could study his shape and make, and the build of his brethren, in our national museum; and, if Professor Owen had room enough, we doubt not that you would. But we have no Salle des Requins toward the tail, the back rather broad, and subarcuate pectorals form a pair of most pow-erful oars, which, with a tail of prodigious activity and strength, drive the living sub marine infernal machine through the yielding deep with ir esistible force and swiftness Though the skin is rough, it is well lubricated, especially about the head, which is to meet the resistance of the surrounding medium. The axis which principally supports all the powerful muscular development and the soft parts, is the most mobile of gristble of erection and depression, at the will necks of their children as a help in their terrors. When lavigated, these teeth were upon the principle, we suppose, that what was

Twenty-six, thirty, and even forty feet, we shark from the tip of the nose to the end of the tail, and the size of the teeth of such a fish is well known. But such a specimen would be considered very remarkable in our day; it would shrink in comparison, to a common dog-fish, when placed by the side of one of the largest fossil true sharks, if we could by chance, call up one in his habit as he livculated as 543:27, the two last figures repre-

SOMBRERO GUANO. N calling the attention of the public to this valuable and recently discovered deposit of this fertilizing article, we will merely state, that like all other shosphatic GUANOS, its most valuable constituent is phosphoric acid, or bene phosphate of lime; and that its inercantile value, as compared with other GUANOS of its kind, may be easily determined by the amount of phosphoric acid or bone phosphate of lime it contains. In order, therefore, to give the public a thorough knowledge of what SOMBRERO GUANO does contain, we beg to refer to the following list of eminent chemists in different parts of the world, who have analyzed different cargoes, from average samples taken by themselves from the cargoes just as they arrive from the island, without drying er selection of specimens for analyzation. Each analysis will be exhibited, if required, under the original signature of each chemist named:

KETTLEWELL'S MANIPULATED GUANO. WE have received a full supply of this article, W and shall keep it constantly on hand. It is composed of pure Perevian and Phosphatic Guanos, from the Islands of Chincha and Nevassa, combined and closely integrated by machinery.

No. 1 is warranted to contain 8 per cent. of Ammonia, and 45 to 50 per cent. of Phosphate of Lime.

No. 2.—5 per cent. of Ammonia, and 55 to 60 per cent. of Phosphate of Lime. The testimonials of the value of this Fertilizer, n our possession, are very strong, and from sources known to us to be reliable.

WM. H. FOWLE & SON. JARVIS ISLAND GUANO.

WE offer for sale a small cargo of this GUANO, just landed from Schr. West Wind. It has been recently imported by the American Guano Company, from their Island, in the Pacific, and is represented to be a valuable fertilizer. We re-
